The pottery Trust has been smashed. Fractures in the glass Trust will be next in order.

There were only two of the Vanderbilt family to kiss young Van's bride. She doesn't mind that however as he is doubless competent to do the kissing for the whole family.

Those preachers who advocate the subjugation of the Philippine islands and then carrying the gospel to the natives, seem to think pretty well of the Mahommed method of propagating religion.

The King of Siam has ordered that all persons coming into his presence must wear socks. The King is beginning to put on style since he has slid into American clothes and wears a plug hat.

With the $10,000,000 which young Mr. Vanderbilt's pa will give him and the $5,000,000 that Miss Fair has, there is a fair prospect of their getting along pretty well provided they be reasonably economical.

Queen Victoria was once fined for failing to comply with the law in not having the birth of one of her children registered in time. It cost her 7s 6d. It was hard for her to shuck out that much, but she bore up well, and didn't permit herself to become too forgetful any more.

Lady Randolph Churchill, of London, formerly Miss Jerome, of New York, is going to publish a tony quarterly magazine, the price of which will be $5 a copy. It is a good thing for Lady Randolph that she will not be dependent for her pin money on that magazine.

A bolt of Jersey lightning struck the chimney of a house in Passaic, the other day, set the house on fire, then scooted out into the back yard, found a dog, jumped on the chain by which he was fastened, melted that and killed the dog. No getting away from that kind of lightning when it starts out on business.

Miss Ann Russell, a St. Louis heiress, while in Europe became engaged to a Hungarian Count, and afterwards discovered that the Count had fellows nosing around in her town to find out the financial standing of the Allen family, and then Ann got hot and dropped that Count with a suddenness that took his breath away. He doesn't count with her now.

Nicholas Pike, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is responsible for the English Sparrow, which is not English but a European Sparrow which circulates all over Europe. He imported eight pairs in 1850, to eat bugs, but if they or their descendants ever ate any bugs nobody has discovered it. The chief business of the Sparrow is to increase and multiply and make war on other birds.

MANY ATTRACTIONS.

During Both the First and the Second Weeks After Easter.

MUCH GAIETY IN WILMINGTON

The Easter Dances—Play and Tour by Paint and Powder Club—"Rip Van Winkle."—"Black Patti Troubadours"—Other Events.

A record of unusual gaiety was scored in Wilmington social circles during Easter week just closed, being distinguished by elegant germans byL'Arioso German Club, L'Agile Cotillon Club, Miss Lord's complimentary german; the dance by Hanover Seaside club; the annual sociable by Hibernian Society; three theatrical entertainments by the Eunice Goodrick Company and numerous other pleasant events. The coming week, however, bids fair to rival the one just closed, at least in the number of amusement attractions.

The principal interest in coming events, of course, centers in the entertainment at the Opera House on Thursday night by the "Wilmington Paint and Powder Club," when they will render their grand double bill, giving "Comedy and Tragedy" as a curtain-raiser, followed by "The Merry Maid." Elaborate costumes, stage paraphernalia and lithographs have been ordered and will be here in ample time for Thursday night's performance. Highly satisfactory rehearsals are being held, and the greatest success ever scored by a Wilmington amateur company is positively assured. As heretofore announced, the members of the club who will take part in the coming entertainment are Miss Hattie Taylor, Miss Annie Lee, Miss Nessie Cotchett, Miss Eliza McPherson, Mr. W. F. Robinson, Mr. James H. Cowan, Mr. Thos. H. Wright, Mr. W. W. Vick and Mr. James Cotchett. The sale of seats for the play will commence at Gerken's Tuesday morning.

All arrangements have also been perfected for the Club's tour of the principal cities of the State, so that they will leave here Monday, April 17th, playing in Fayetteville on that night, at Durham on the 18th, at Winston-Salem on the 19th, at Greensboro on the 20th, at Raleigh on the 21st, and at Goldsboro on Saturday, the 22d, returning to Wilmington on Sunday or Monday. The tour, as STAR readers are aware, will be under the personal management of Mr. S. A. Schloss, manager of the Wilmington Opera House. Mr. Cutlar Lee will serve as advance agent and will leave Tuesday of this week, with advertising matter, etc, to prepare the way for the coming of the Club to the various cities on the dates named.

The first Opera House attraction of the week will be on to-morrow night by Mr. Samuel W. Glenn, presenting "Rip Van Winkle." Mr. Glenn is now 70 years old, being the first actor to take the part of Rip Van Winkle on the stage, having started Joe Jefferson in the part in Washington City in 1860. The Charlotte Observer of February 4th says that "one need not want to see the character of the amiable ne'er-do-well better portrayed" than Mr. Glenn interpreted it in that city on that date. And adds that "the company as a whole is an excellent one," complimenting especially Mr. Bokee, as Derrick; Mr. Ring, as Herman, and Miss Granger as Mrs. Rip Van Winkle.

Another theatrical this week and one withal which promises to attract a big audience is the famous "Black Patti Troubadours" billed for Tuesday night. The press in several leading cities pronounce this an especially meritorious and particularly mirth-provoking attraction, so that a feast of misth, melody and music may well be anticipated. Besides "Black Patti," who is conceded to possess the sweetest voice of any negro on the American stage, there are a number of soloists and other specialists who combine to afford a meritorious entertaiment.

The entire lower floor of the Opera House will be reserved for white people.

Miss Lord's dancing school will resume sessions to-morrow (Monday) night in Germania Hall, for the last term of the season. As heretofore, the day class will meet at 3:45 P. M. and the evening class at 8:15 o'clock. Sessions will be held on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays for the afternoon class and on Mondays and Fridays for the evening class.

The regular weekly rehearsal by the Wilmington Musical Association will be held on Tuesday evening instead of Monday on account of conflicting attractions on Monday, their regular practice night. Director Munson urges a full attendance. Excellent progress is being made in the rehearsals of the oratorio "Joan of Arc" which they contemplate rendering publicly for a benefit early in May.

On Thursday evening, as previously announced, the O. A. N. and A. C. L. boys will give an Atheletic Association benefit entertainment, using the St. James parish house and the adjacent club house of the O. A. N. Club. There will be a short programme, in which some of the best talent of the city will participate. There will be music by the Baltimore Italian Band, and refreshments will be served. Managers Hatch, Sinclair, Bernard and Crow are meeting with good success soliciting contributions and patronage.

Two departments of the North Carolina Sorosis will hold interesting meetings during this week. The Literature Department will meet at 3.30 P. M. Thursday, and the programme will be devoted to Robert Burns and Sir Walter Scott. Features of the meeting will be the reading of carefully prepared papers and appropriate selections, as follows: "Life of Burns (1759-1796)"; "Selections from 'Twa Dogs,' Burns;" "Sir Walter Scott (1728-1811);" "Selections 'Waverly' and 'Lay of the Last Minstrel.'"

An interesting programme is also prepared for the meeting of the Art department, to be held Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Three papers are to be read by leading members of the department. The subjects will be "Early Life, and Life in Florence," "Life in Rome" and "Raphael as an Architect and Sculptor."

The April meeting of all departments of Sorosis was held in their apartments in the Seaboard Air Line building Thursday afternoon. There was a large attendance, and the meeting proved one of the most satisfactory held in quite a while. The reports from the various departments were especially encouraging, indicating very enthusiastic work in all the avenues of Sorosis study. A pleasing social feature of the Sorosis was a delightful "tea," held after the meeting.

CONVOCATION OF WILMINGTON.

Officers Re-elected—A New Chapel Consecrated by Bishop Watson.

Rev. Milton A. Barber and Rev. R. R. Windley returned last evening from Fayetteville, where they have been attending since Thursday the convocation of Wilmington of the East Carolina Episcopal Diocese.

Bishop Watson and Rev. James Carmichael, who are also in attendance upon the convocation, will not return until the adjournment to day.

The services yesterday afternoon consisted of the consecration by Bishop Watson of a chapel in Campbellton, a suburb of Fayetteville.

At the business session of the convocation Friday afternoon reports were heard and several resolutions adopted, among them being one of regret that matters were so arranged that Dr. Robt. Strange could not be present.

All the officers of the convocation were re-elected as follows: Dr. James Carmichael, Dean; Rev. Milton A. Barber, Secretary, and Mr. J. H. Boatwright, Treasurer; all of whom are from Wilmington.

RICHARD J. FITZGERALD.

Died at His Residence in This City Early Yesterday Morning.

Mr. Richard J. Fitzgerald, a well known and highly esteemed young man of this city, died at his home, No. 712 Bladen street, early yesterday morning, after a lingering illness of several months with consumption. He is a son of Mr. Jno. Fitzgerald, who was for a number of years captain of the police force, and was very popular with his associates.

He was a consistent member of St. Thomas' Catholic Church, and belonged to the Hibernian Benevolent Society, which organization will meet this afternoon for the purpose of attending the funeral in a body.

A father, one brother and a devoted wife survive him.

The funeral will be from St. Thomas' Pro-Cathedral this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, and the interment will be in the Catholic Cemetery.

Registrars for Road Election.

Mr. Geo. T. Bland, has been appointed a registrar in the First precinct of the First Ward, for the road election May 2nd, vice W. McD. Evans, resigned, B. F. Swann, registrar for the Second precinct of the Fifth Ward, vice T. F. Swann resigned and Hill King, registrar for Federal Point township, vice J. A. Biddle resigned. The registrars were notified of their appointment yesterday by Deputy Sheriff S. H. Terry, and most of them called at the office of the County Commissioners in the afternoon and received the necessary books for opening the registration to-morrow. As stated in yesterday's STAR, no new registration is required; a revision of the book for November election having been decided upon by the Commissioners.

The Naval Reserves May Go.

Mr. P. Heinsberger reports increased interest among the Confederate Veterans regarding the Reunion to be held in Charlotte May 10th. He found one veteran yesterday who was getting ready to start to-day. He had gotten the idea in some way that the reunion was to be April 10th, instead of May 10th. The round trip will be $4.25.

A STAR reporter was told yesterday that while the matter has not been definently decided, it is highly probable that the Naval Reserves will make a cruise in their practice boat, the Hornet, about that time and will go to Charleston during the reunion.

Police Record.

The police record of the week shows arrests of 16 persons, 11 colored and 5 white. Five were arrested for disorderly conduct, 3 for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, 2 for being drunk, 2 for selling beer on Sunday, 3 for returning to the city after having been ordered to leave and one on suspicion of larceny. William Murphy, colored, who was tried at yesterday's session of the Police Court was dismissed.

BELLAMY-DOCKERY CASE.

Witnesses for Contestant in Rebuttal to be Examined at Rockingham and Laurinburg—Hearing Here.

Two additional notices of the taking of testimony in rebuttal of that offered by the contestee in the Congressional election case, were served on Hon. John D. Bellamy yesterday afternoon.

The first is at Rockingham, N. C., on Wednesday, April 12th, before Notary W. M. Kelly, beginning at 9 o'clock A. M. Thirty-one witnesses are named for examination, among them being Col. Dockery, the contestant, and Capt. W. I. Everett, Clerk of the Superior Court. The witnesses are from Rockingham, Ellerbe Springs, Roberdel, Diggs, Laurinburg, Gibson's Mill, Mangum, Powellton, Troy and Hamlet.

The second will be held at Laurinburg, Scotland county, before the same Notary, W. M. Kelly, on Monday, April 17th. Fourteen witnesses are named in the summons and are from Laurinburg, Stewart's, Fontcol, McNair's and Conetoe.

Both notices are signed by Oscar J. Spears, attorney.

The testimony of ten additional witnesses from New Hanover county for the contestee will be taken in the United States court room in this city, beginning at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, before Notary John J. Fowler, and continuing until Wednesday, 12th inst., the expiration of the forty days allowed the contestee for this purpose

The following is a list of witnesses to be examined: R. H. McKoy, Matt. Bremer, Thos. D. McCaleb, Ed. Warren, John D. Bellamy, Col. J. W. Atkinson, Jas. H. Chadbourn, Jr., Dr. W. W. Harriss, W. E. Springer and J. N. Jacobi.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

"The Pilgrim's Progress from Hill Difficulty to Enchanted Ground" will be Dr. Blackwell's subject to-night at the First Baptist Church.

THE LETTUCE SHIPMENTS.

More Than 1,000 Barrels Sold Here This Week—Other Truck Shipments.

More than a thousand barrels of lettuce were shipped to the Northern markets from Wilmington during the past week, despite the fact that the crop is short in this section. This creditable shipment is, however, probably 30 per cent. less than the shipments for the corresponding period last year. About 225 barrels were shipped yesterday and large quantities will go out on the morning trains today. The truckers are still receiving good prices, ranging from $8 to $10 per barrel. Considerable quantities of asparagus, radishes, and other seasonable truck, are also being shipped from day to day.

THE CRUISER RALEIGH.

Gov. Russell Thinks There is Yet Probability of her Coming Here.

The Raleigh News and Observer of yesterday, referring to the STAR'S special from Southport indicating that the Raleigh will not visit Wilmington, says:

This is much to be regretted. It would be most appropriate to have the cruiser come to North Carolina waters, even if only for a short stay. The reasons for the decision against such a course are not known.

The dispatch was yesterday called to the attention of Governor Russell, who has just returned from Washington. He said he thought the plans had been changed since the writing of the letter; the cruiser would, he thought, come to New York, Philadelphia, Norfolk and Wilmington.

BY RIVER AND RAIL.

Receipts of Naval Stores and Cotton Yesterday.

W. & W. Railroad—5 bales cotton, 2 cask spirits turpentine.
W., C. & A. Railroad—6 casks spirits turpentine, 16 barrels rosin, 4 barrels tar.
Carolina Central Railroad—29 barrels tar.
A. & Y. Railroad—3 casks spirits turpentine, 20 barrels tar.
Total—Cotton, 5 bales; spirits turpentine, 11 casks; rosin, 16 barrels; tar, 53 barrels.

The Time Extended.

The management of the Champion Oil Burner, which has been on exhibit here the last ten days, is now arranging to establish a State agency for the sale of their burners, and during the negotiations, or for the next few days at least, our citizens who wish can avail themselves of the low wholesale prices of these burners. Mr. Butler, who has been helping exhibit the Champion Burner here, will be in charge, located in Sellers' store, next to the Laundry, on South Front street, where he will be pleased to give all further particulars.

OCEAN VIEW IMPROVEMENTS.

Many Laborers Busy On Messrs. Schloss and Nathan's Hotel and Public Bath House.

Quite a large force of laborers were at work all last week upon the extensive improvements at Ocean View on Wrightsville Beach, being made by Messrs. Schloss and Nathan, and the force will be materially increased this week. The plans for improvements have been somewhat changed since the last announcement was made. An entirely new "Ocean View Hotel" is being erected on the site of the Atlas House, which was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago; so that the old hotel will also remain and be managed by some one, Mrs. Mayo taking the management of the new building which will be of thoroughly modern design with 35 rooms, the dining room being 40 x 70 feet. There will be wide verandas all round the hotel on both the first and second stories They are as previously announced also constructing an entirely new 100-room public bath house fitted up with all modern appliances.

The Seacoast Railroad Company is also pushing with all possible dispatch considerable improvements upon their roadbed and tressles preparatory for the approaching beach season.

DR. EDWARD O. FLAGG.

Will Fill Dr. Strange's Pulpit at St. James' Church During His Absence.

Dr. Edward O. Flagg, of New York, arrived in the city Friday night and, as published in the STAR several days ago, will fill Dr. Strange's pulpit at St. James' Episcopal Church during the three months' vacation of the latter in Europe. Dr. Flagg is not a stranger to Wilmington people, having spent about two months in this city eleven years ago, as rector of St. James' Church, in the interim of the departure of Dr. Lewis and the coming of Dr. Strange.

The usual morning and evening services will be conducted at St. James' to day by Dr. Flagg.

Will Pay Wilmington a Visit.

Jefferson Lodge No. 61 expects very soon to entertain quite a distinguished guest in the person of Mr. Robert Jordan. He is reported to be the best posted Pythian on team work in the world. Besides the ritual demonstrations which Mr. Jordan will give in the lodge, it is expected that he will give a public recital in which he will render heroic drama readings. The leading papers of the country pronounce him especially good as an impersonator. He has already visited Raleigh, Charlotte and Goldsboro. He will come to Wilmington within the next week or two.

Local Shipping Intelligence.

The schooner C. C. Lister, Capt. Robinson, which was reported anchored off the bar during the storm Friday night has arrived at Fort Caswell, where she is discharging her cargo of coal for the Government. After discharge of the cargo she will be towed into this port to Messrs. Geo. Harriss, Son & Co., for a cargo of lumber.

The Standard Oil Co.'s steamer, Maverick, Capt. Fosset, from New York, which also encountered the storm Friday night near the bar, arrived yesterday.

The schooners Gem and Wm. T. Parker went to sea yesterday.

Mr. Struthers Relieved.

The Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen, consisting of Messrs. Worth, McRae and Springer, met last night at the City Hall for the purpose of examining and approving the annual report of City Clerk and Treasurer Wm. Struthers, and to dissolve his relation as such with the city government. The report was found correct and his bond released. The meeting last night was in pursuance of an order of the Board of Aldermen referring this matter to the Finance Committee with power to act.

Complimentary to Miss Chadbourn.

A special to the Charlotte Observer says that on last Thursday evening a reception, complimentary to Miss Lucy Chadbourn, daughter of Mr. W. H. Chadbourn, of this city, was held in the parlors of the North Carolina Medical College at Davidson. The reception was tendered by Dr. J. P. Monroe, and was in the nature of a farewell to Miss Chadbourn, who has been visiting relatives there, and is, the correspondent says, quite a favorite with the students and village people.

A Novel Provision.

Copies of the Revenue and Machinery Act, just from the presses of the public printer, were received here yesterday. A decidedly novel feature of the new act reads as follows:

"If any person shall, with a view to evading the payment of taxes, fail or refuse to give in to the assessor any bonds, notes, claims or other evidences of debt which are subject to taxation under this act, the same shall not be recoverable by action at law or suit in equity before any of the courts of this State until they have been listed and the tax paid thereon."

Special Y. M. C. A. Service.

There will be an interesting service at the Young Men's Christian Association auditorium this afternoon at 5 o'clock, for men only. Rev. Mr. Watson of Summerville, S. C., who is conducting special meetings at Grace Methodist Church, will be the special speaker. His text will be "Be thou therefore strong and prove thyself a man." There will be special music.

THE NEWS FROM RALEIGH.

New Building for Odd Fellows—Industrial Schemes—Companies Incorporated. Corporation Commission.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C., April 8.

The contract for the new Odd Fellow building, on Fayetteville street, was to-day awarded. The building will be built by Seaton Gales Lodge. It will be of pressed brick, three stories high. The first floor will be used for stores, the second for offices and the third for an Odd Fellow's hall. The building committee consists of Mayor A. M. Powell, Jos. G. Brown, James Dinwiddie, Jos. E. Pogue and E. L. Harris. There are three Odd Fellow lodges here—Manteo, Seaton Gales and Capital. The Manteo lodge is the ablest and the Capital the youngest.

Incorporated Companies.

The Bala Cotton Mill, of Cabarrus county, was this morning incorporated by the Secretary of State. Its capital stock is $6,500, with privilege of increasing it to $100,000. The incorporators are D. F. Cannon, E. C. Barnhardt and J. W. Cannon. The principal place of business is to be at the G. W. Patterson Mill, in No. 2 township, Cabarrus couhty.

Another corporation taking out letters patent is the Piedmont Park Company, of Winston. Capital stock $5,000, divided into shares of $10 each, with privilege of increasing to $20,000. J. O. Magruder, Garland E. Webb, P. H. Lybrook and P. H. Hanes are named as incorporators. The corporation has power to purchase, lease and otherwise acquire real and personal property, to erect on such property any buildings and to conduct fairs, horse shows, athletic and other games and contests, and all other amusements not prohibited by law.

The Franklin Hardware Company, of Youngsville, Franklin county, is incorporated, with a capital stock of $750, with privilege of increasing to $5,000. The incorporators are C. E. Timberlake, J. D. Swinson and M. T. Swinson.

Corporation Commission.

The Corporation Commission has been in session ever since its organization last Wednesday. Wednesday and Thursday were devoted to preparation of rules of practice before the court and trial of the docket. Friday and Saturday were given to consideration of freight and passenger tariffs.

As stated recently in the STAR, there is a strong probability that under the recent re-organization of the Seaboard Air Line system the machine shops of that road may be located and rebuilt in this city.

IRON AND COTTON.

The Baltimore Manufacturers' Record presents from week to week a summary of the new industries established or projected in the South. With its watchful correspondents in every Southern State and in every town where industries are established, it keeps fully abreast of the movement and nothing escapes it worth noticing. While these weekly reports of progress show that the South is up and doing, and that not only home but outside capital are finding tempting fields for investment, one of the most encouraging and satisfactory exhibits yet made, is the summary of progress made within the past three months, which appears in last week's issue. This is an exhibit showing principally the movement in the iron and cotton industries. Leading off with iron it reports as follows:

Probably first in importance is the Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke Co., with a capital stock of $7,500,000 and also in addition $7,500,000 in bonds. This company has purchased some ten or twelve furnaces built in Southwest Virginia and Tennessee during the boom period of 1889 to 1891, and which have been idle for several years. It has also purchased the large steel and iron plant at Middleboro, Ky., and extensive bodies of ore and coal lands. All of these furnaces will be repaired and put into blast as rapidly as possible, giving the company an annual capacity of several hundred thousand tons of pig iron when all of its furnaces are running.

"The Empire steel & Iron Co., capital $5,000,000, backed by some very large iron and moneyed people in New York and elsewhere, has purchased the longidle furnace at Greensboro, N. C., and will put it into operation. This ocmpany is now negotiating for a number of furnaces in Alabama, also built during the boom period, and which have been idle since then. As these are secured they will also be repaired and put in blast.

The Roane Iron Co., Rockwood, Tenn. will spend about $200,000 in the enlargement of its furnace and in building a new furnace. The Pioneer Mining and Manufacturing Co., Birmingham, is enlarging its furnace operations, opening new ore mines and building a railroad to extensive coal properties.

"A syndicate is being organized by some Alabama and Western people for purchasing and operating several Alabama furnaces. The Vanderbilt furnace at Birmingham has been purchased and will be put into blast, and the Mary Pratt furnace has been optioned and will probably be bought and go into blast. The Star and Crescent furnace at Rusk, Texas, has been leased and will be blown in as soon as the necessary repairs can be made. A plant for making cement out of slag, with a capacity of 3,000 barrels a day, will be built at Ensley City, Ala., and a cooperage shop to produce 3,000 kegs a day will be established under a contract to furnish kegs to the wire-nail works now building there.

"The Chester Rolling Mill Co., capital $250,000, will erect an iron and steel sheet mill at Chester, W. Va. The Catoctin Iron Co. property at Frederick, Md., including 9000 acres of mineral land, has been purchased by people who expect to build one or more furnaces. The Cumberland Rolling Mill, Cumberland, Md., has been leased by the Potomac Steel Co., is now being overhauled, and will be put into operation making light steel rails. The Anniston Pipe & Foundry Co., Anniston, Ala., is making large improvements to its pipe works, and Tyler & Co. are erecting sewer-pipe works, and H. M. Wheedon, of Boston, and others have leased and will operate the Hercules Pipe Works at Anniston, Ala. The Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Co. is building a large foundry and machine shop at Birmingham in connection with the Alabama Steel & Shipbuilding plant, and the American Pipe & Foundry Co. will enlarge its plant at Bessemer at a reported cost of about $200,000. The Eagle Iron Co. has been organized to buy and operate a charcoal furnace at Attalla, and the Jenifer Furnace Co., of Jenifer, Ala., is erecting a 500-ton ore washer and improving its furnace with a view to putting into blast. Baltimore and Philadelphia people have purchased 1,800 acres of land adjacent to Birmingham, with the probability of the establishment there of iron works. A $120,000 iron foundry has been established at Newport News, and the Buffalo Iron Co., of Nashville, Tenn., will blow in its furnace at Cumberland Furnace P. O. The West Virginia Steel Co., capital $1,000,000, will build a $400,000 plant for making steel sheets. A dozen or more enterprises looking to the building of machine shops, the enlargement of furnace operations and the development of coal mines are under way in different sections of the South, while in copper mining some extensive purchases have been made of copper properties and large development operations will be pushed."

This is a very good showing, and is proof of the confidence capitalists have in the future of the South as an iron producing and iron manufacturing section. Of course we do not know how much speculation may enter into some of these schemes, but the fact that they have begun work, to establish plants and to reopen plants that have been closed for several years is pretty good indication that they mean business, that they have been organized to do business in a legitimate business way, and will give little attention to speculation and booming.

Turning to the progress in the cotton manufacturing industry, it says:

"The activity in the building of new mills and in the enlargement of established concerns since January 1 has been very marked. The most important enterprise in that line, probably the most important in its effect of any textile concern ever reported in the South, was the decision of the Merrimac Manufacturing Co. of Lowell, Mass., to build in Alabama a mill of 25,000 spindles and 700 looms, and as soon as this is completed to contiuue the extension of the work until it has in one plant eight 25,000-spindle mills with an aggregate of 200,000 spindles and 5,600 looms, and also bleachery and print works, the entire investment to be about $2,500,000.

"Col. Julian S. Carr and the Dukes and others of Durham, N. C., are planning the development of a 10,000-horse power canal at Lockville, N. C., and the building of a $1,000,000 mill. The Poe Manufacturing Co., Greenville, is adding 14,000 spindles; the Griffin, Ga., Manufacturing Co., 6,000 spindles; the Meadow Brook Cotton Mills, Texas, will build a mill of 11,000 spindles; the Tallassee Falls Manufacturing Co., Tallassee, Ala., will build a new mill of 60,000 spindles; the Bennettsville, S. C., Manufacturing Co., 10,000 spindles; the Ozark Cotton Mills, Gastonia, N. C., 8,000 spindles; the Lynchburg, Va., mill will double its capacity this year and put in 22,000 new spindles; the Proximity Manufacturing Co. of Greensboro will add 8,000 spindles; the Trion Manufacturing Co., Trion Factory, Ga., 25,000 spindles; the Lanette Mills of West Point, Ga., will build a new mill of 25,000 spindles; the Clover Cotton Manufacturing Co., Clover, S. C., will add 10,000 spindles; the Cannon Manufacturing Co., Concord, N. C., 7,000 spindles; the Revolution Cotton Mills, Greensboro, N. C., capital $300,000, will build a mill of 12,000 spindles; the La Grange Mill, La Grange, Ga., will add 5,000 spindles; B. F. Mebane, Greensboro, N. C., will build a mill of 25,000 spindles; the Willingham Cotton Mills, Macon, Ga., 5,000 spindles; the Sterling Cotton Mills, Franklinton, N. C., will add 6,200 spindles; the Eno Cotton Mill, Hillsboro, 5,000 spindles; the Louise Mills, Charlotte, 3,800 spindles; the Highland Park Manufacturing Company, Charlotte, will build a 7,000-spindle mill at Rock Hill. These mills will all have the proportionate number of looms. The aggregate number of spindles to be put in new mills and in the established mills, as definitely announced since January 1, including for the Merrimac Manufacturing Company, its proposed total of 200,000 spindles, will be nearly 600,000 spindles, representing an investment of $8,000,000 to $10,000,000."

It concludes its exhibit by showing the great activity in the building of cotton seed oil mills, which kept pace with the building of cotton mills, and notices quite a number of new manufacturing enterprises of a miscellaneous character.

Take it all in all, it is a splendid and most encouraging exhibit, especially in iron and cotton, the South's two great products, and destined to be the great wealth producers for this section.

ACTIVITY IN RAILROAD BUILDING.

There is extraordinary activity in railroad building this year, the indications pointing, the Railway Age says, to 5,000 miles of new road, 4,000 of which are now under contract or construction. There are eighteen States and two Territories which show over 100 miles of lines under contract or construction. Eight of these are Southern States, including North Carolina with 182 miles.

There is no better indication of the improvement in industrial conditions nor any more assuring sign of the confidence in the stability of this improvement than revival in railroad building, for men who put their money in railroads are not rainbow chasers and do not build roads where there are not pretty good prospects of their paying.

But another gratifying feature of this activity is the fact that aside from furnishing better transportation facilities to the sections through which they run they stimulate development and the establishment of more industries which contribute to the betterment of these sections, and give employment to a larger number of people.

This new mileage for the country represents an aggregate investment of $150,000,000.

A Western man temporarily sojourning in Mexico, who somewhat tartly remarked on the national amusement of prodding bulls with swords, &c., was reminded that the Mexicans do not kill song and other birds for amusement, or to decorate females' hats with feathers. These barbarous practices they leave to the Americans, while they content themselves with the fun of jabbing points into bulls, which occasionally have a chance of getting even by jabbing the jabbers.

RAISING PRICES.

One of the apologies for the organization of Trusts is that they can by the employment of large capital and better methods of production put their goods upon the market for less money than separate companies or individuals engaged in the production of the same articles could. There is doubtless an advantage in very large capital and concentrated management in cheapening production, but the assertion that Trusts lower prices is purely an assumption based upon the fact that the prices of some things controlled by Trusts are lower now than they were before the Trusts were formed.

While this is the fact in some instances how do these Trust apologists know that these articles would not be still cheaper if there had been competition instead of a monopoly? But we do know that the prices have been raised on a good many articles controlled by Trusts, such as glass, wire nails, steel billots and many other things. Within the past few days there has been an advance of $10 a ton on the price of broom corn, and gas, vapor and other stoves have gone up from 15 to 30 per cent. This is all the work of Trusts, and they haven't got a right good start yet. Let them get a firm grip, and put competition entirely out of the way, and then they can and will fix prices to suit themselves.

STIRRING UP THE CUBANS.

The talk of annexing Cuba, which has become a favorite topic with some of the administration organs in this country, is stirring up those Cubans who have had their thoughts fixed on independence, for which they have a decided preference over annexation. One of these is Gen. Gomez, who, although he has not been doing any talking on that line recently, is regarded as the leader of those who insist upon independence, and more of a leader now since the Cuban Assembly has retired from the stage. It is thought by some that in tying to Gomez and ignoring the Assembly we have swapped the devil for a witch and got a fellow who may give us more trouble than the Assembly could, for that didn't seem to have a very strong grip on the people, while Gomez has.

On the whole, it seems that the annexation organs are playing their game a little too brash, and are not taking the Cubans or Cuban sentiment sufficiently into consideration when they make these schemes and indite these editorials. It would be well to go a little slower and feel the way as they go.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Monroe Journal: Mr. Archie McLarty caught a hawk in a steel trap a few days ago that was perfectly white.

— Goldsboro Argus: Quantities of fertilizers have been brought up the Neuse river by steamboats this season. We heard a man who lives on the river say that nothing like it has ever been known.

— Winston Journal: The present Republican Board of Education, of Yadkin county, whose office was abolished by the last Legislatures refuse to surrender the office to the new Democratic board and will carry the matter to the courts for a settlement.

— Columbus News: The hardest April freeze which has visited this section in years occurred here Tuesday night. It has perhaps almost destroyed the fruit crop for this year. The damage to truck was largely confined to strawberries, as very few potatoes are up, and beans have not been planted. The damage to the strawberry crop is extensive, some growers estimating it at one-half, which may be excessive.

— Monroe Enquirer: Mr. Wm. Stancill, who lives in Goose Creek township, found a rabid dog in his stable when he went out to feed his stock Wednesday morning. The dog seized Mr. Stancill by the hand and held on until Mrs. Stancill killed it.

—— A gentleman says that when he came to Monroe about a month ago he could not eat anything without suffering from indigestion, but now, thanks for the artesian water, he can eat anything he chooses and suffers no more from indigestion which has trouble him so long.

— Winston Sentinel: One of Salem's best citizens called at the Sentinel office this morning to say that all of the fruit had not been killed. To make his statement more forcible, he exhibited peach, pear and apricot blossoms which, on examination, were found to be alive and doing well. This gentleman quoted an old nurseryman, who lived in Abbott's Creek township many years ago, as saying that when fruit blossoms were filled with water, frost did not generally injure them; that frost in dry weather was what killed fruit.

— Charlotte Observer: A diabolical case of cruelty came to light Friday morning in the mayor's court. A negro woman named Laura Bost committed the atrocities. Her victim was her adopted daughter, a child about nine years old. The brute beat the child unmercifully Thursday afternoon and otherwise tortured and mistreated her. The officers who arrested the woman said that in all their experience they had never seen such atrocities committed; that the woman was a brute and that hanging was too good for her. Among other things, she threatened to cut the child's tongue out, and was only prevented from doing so by neighbors. Mayor Springs sent the negro to jail in default of $100 bond. Judge Battle will deal with her next week There is no punisment, the officers say, too great for her.

SOME DAY.

EUGENE FIELD.

Last night, my darling, as you slept,
I thought I heard you sigh,
And to your little crib I crept
And watched a space thereby;
Then I stooped and kissed your brow,
For, oh! I love you so!
You are too young to know it now,
But some time you shall know.

Some time, when in a darkened place
Where others come to weep,
Your eyes shall look upon a face
Calm in eternal sleep;
The voiceless lips, the wrinkled brow,
The patient smile shall show—
You are too young to know it now,
But some time you shall know.

Look backward, then, into the years
And see me here to-night—
See, O my darling, how my tears
Are falling as I write—
And feel once more upon your brow
The kiss of long ago—
You are too young to know it now,
But some time you shall know.

SUNDAY SELECTIONS.

— It is a sad thought that we are either confessing Christ or Satan.

— Only a stray sunbeam? Yet it cheered a wretched abode, gladdened a stricken heart.

— No man can leave sin by walking backwards. Our eyes must be fixed on the "hills whence cometh our help."

— God, when he gave the world in common to all mankind, commanded man also to labor, and the penury of his condition required it.

— Bring God down into your heart. Embalm your soul in him now, make within you a temple for the Holy Spirit—happier and better.—Amiel.

— "In doing our own work well and patiently we help God with his eternal plans. So the little brook runs on, and swells the river, and the river itself runs to the sea, and not a drop is lost."

— The minister who quotes Scripture in jest or twists it into a witticism does more to breed irreverence for the sacred word than does the destructive critic. Nothing is more reprehensible or more offensive to a correct taste.

— Jesus is the resurrection and the life; the giver of eternal life which lasts beyond the grave, and makes the resurrection possible and blessed. He proved his assertion and promises by raising Lazarus from the dead.—Peloubet.

— To turn in temptation directly to the power of God; to cry out in sorrow for God's company; to be satisfied in doubt with nothing short of the assurance that God gives; to know that there is no real escape from sin except in being made holy by God's holiness—these are what make a man's complete salvation.

TWINKLINGS.

— Vera Goodheart—"Mrs. von Tauk is a great social light, isn't she?" Ida Nownce—"Well, rather! Regular Four Hundred scandal-power."—Life.

— Insinuation: "Paw, who was the most patient man?" was little Tommy's eighteenth question. "Job used to be," said Mr. Figg.—Indianapolis Journal.

— Minister—"We need a night-watchman for the church. If I gave you the job, do you think you could keep awake?" Man—"Do you preach at night?"—Judge.

— His Sweetheart—"I have always heard that all Spaniards were expert at fencing." Returned Volunteer—"Yes; indeed they are; especially with barbed wire."—Brooklyn Life.

— Encouragement: The Timid Lover—"You know the old adage, 'Faint heart never won fair lady,'" Miss second season—"But I'm a brunette, you know."—Life.

— Frank—"Do you know, I heard the other day that the blocks from which they print £5 notes take nearly three months to engrave." Ella—"Oh, really! I suppose that's why they're so expensive."—Tit-Bits.

— "How do you manage to find your way across the ocean?" said a lady to the sea captain. "Why, by the compass. The needle always points to the north. "Yes, I know. But what if you want to go south?"—Punch.

— Clara (on the wrong side of thirty)—"I am sure I don't know what he sees in her." Cholly—"Well, they say love is blind." Clara—"Blind! Nonsense. I never saw a man in love yet who did not see ten times as much in his sweetheart as I could."—Harlem Life.

— At Breakfast. Mr. Slicer—"I was reading the other day that there are eight hundred ways of cooking potatoes." Mrs. Slicer.—"Yes?" Mr. Slicer.—"Well, my dear, don't you think that if you tried hard you could learn one of them?"—Brooklyn Life.

Why She Refused the Room.

A German lady, arriving for the first time in England, drove to a first class London hotel, asked for a room and was shown into a very small, scantily furnished one. She said, in a determined manner and in very broken English, "I will not have this room."

"No, ma'am," said the porter, and brought in the first box.

"Man," repeated the lady emphatically, "I will not have this room!"

"No, ma'am," said the porter, and brought in the second box.

The lady thought her faulty grammatical construction was the reason of the porter's continued obstinacy, and repeated, with a stern distinctness:

"Man, I will have this room not have!"

"No, ma'am," said the porter, and brought in the third box, whereupon the lady left the room indignantly, but the porter drew her hurriedly back across the threshold, pulled a rope, and to her intense astonishment, the l went up.—London Standard.

PINK AND WHITE OUTING COSTUME FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

AMONG the most dainty of Summer fabrics are the light colored jeans. Like the popular pique this material may be obtained in the very deep shades of bright colors as well as in white and medium shades. Black jeans is a Summer novelty which is scarcely likely to prove as popular as black pique, because of the brownish tint which is always seen upon it, even while new. In the lighter shades of gray, blue, rose pink, and reds the satiny finish becomes an especial attraction Our design taken from HARPER'S BAZAR and for which cut paper patterns are furnished is described as follows: The skirt has a gored front breadth and two side gores, making in all three pieces in the skirt. There is an allowance at the bottom of this garment for a six inch hem. The position for the trimming, which consists of double folds of dotted jeans stitched at the upper edge of the skirt, is marked upon the pattern. The folds have a further finish of white cotton braid stitched flat upon the edges. Where desired this trimming scheme may be reversed, and the braid made to cover the stitching upon the top of the fold. The folds should be made of bias material, and care should be exercised in fitting the points in back and front of gown and of the collar. The skirt is finished with two single pleats in the back which meet in the centre. The bodice is a kind of bloused and belted Eton. It has a seamless back, with but the merest suggestion of gathering in the centre at the waist. The front is slightly full, and even suggests a pouch; but where this is not desired the material may be drawn smooth, so that the small flaring revers will just meet the band. In the original design these began above this point, as may be seen in the illustration. The collar is a dainty development of the sailor shaped neck garniture. The revers and collars are edged with bands of the dotted material outlined with braid. This jacket may be worn with blouse or chemisette, as may be preferred. The front meets just below where the collar points converge, and a fancy tie, of which a pattern is included with the costume, is tied in a sailor-knot at this point. This tie does not pass around the neck of the bodice, but is attached just under the points of the collar. It may be made of taffeta, mousseline, or of bright Persian silk. The sleeve is large enough to admit of wearing a thin under blouse sleeve if desired. They are box-pleated at the shoulder, and finished at the wrist with deep turned-back cuffs edged with cotton braid. The design is one which would be effective if treated in blue flannel for yachting purposes, or in such light-weight black or colored material as Henrietta cloth or cashmere.

This costume will require 12½ yards of pique or jeans to make it as represented in the illustration.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—"Liberty we cannot offer you," says the Philippine Commission to the Filipinos; "but we may have a full supply of autonomy." That sounds suspiciously and unsoothingly Spanish.—Norfolk Landmark, Dem.

—"You will have to admit," as the Springfield Republican remarks, "that if the Filipinos were now fighting the Germans, the French or even the English, the applause for their resistance would be particularly heavy in these United States."—Chattanooga Times, Dem.

—The proclamation of the Philippine commission is an emphatic declaration in favor of imperialism. The natives are told they must submit to the supremacy and sovereignty of the United States, and those who oppose it will accomplish no end but their own ruin. The commission, therefore, while laying the President's policy before the Filipinos, lays it equally before the people of the United States. It is for the latter to decide whether they will approve this policy or repudiate it as alien to American principles, antagonistic to our institutions, and dangerous to our government.—New Orleans Times Democrat, Dem.

Where Did the Oysters Go To?

An Annapolis oysterman who has had considerable experience says it has been a mystery to him and others in the business why a tonger can catch a boatload of oysters on an oyster rock one day, the next day catch nothing but shells and the following day on the same oyster ground gather a good supply of oysters. Continuing, he said: "After having taken with rakes 107 bushels in two days we returned to the same grounds, having 'buoyed' the exact place. Much to our surprise, we found nothing but shells, though the oysters were plentiful when we left. A day later we again visited our buoy, and with tongs caught nearly as many oysters as on the first day."—Baltimore Sun.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK April 8.—The cotton market opened dull with prices one point higher to one lower. Light foreign buying order had a steadying influence on the local future market during the early part of the call. When August was reached however, quite heavy selling set in, led by a broker whose operations are generally for the account of Philadelphia and Boston interests. Two or three Wall street commission houses also sold in a small way in the August and later positions. Investment orders were few and far between, outsiders for the time being in nearly all instances devoting their attention to the stock market. The market closed quiet, one to three points net lower.

THE MILLER'S SONG.

Once she was dainty Dorothy, Dorothy of the mill,
Sweet as a thorny wild rose that dews of evening fill.
Now she folds tattered petals around a wounded heart,
And, oh, her sister roses, they shrink from her apart!

Do you remember, Dorothy, days that have flown away
With rose and lilac and hawthorn fled with a parted May?
Do you remember kisses snatched by the elder tree,
Vows that were made and broken—Dorothy, Dorothy!

Since you were sweet and twenty many a rose has died,
Many a rosebud broken her jealous sheaths aside,
And who was queen of roses is changed and pale of blee.
No man now seeks Maid Marian; all men seek Dorothy.

Allan-a-Dale is singing tonight in Avalon,
And there's no horn could waken Scarlett or Little John.
Only the miller wanders the silent ways of Shere,
And would that he were lying dead of your thorns, my dear.

—Nora Hopper in Black and White.

NURSE MORRISON.

She was rather a little woman, with a great mass of yellow hair and a timid sort of way about her. She looked after her cases, however, with a great deal of nerve, and Trafford, my senior, agreed with me that she knew her work. It was a small hospital, as hospitals go nowadays, and Trafford and I, the only resident medical officers, could speculate on life and humanity and yet do our work, we thought, with credit. To us she was just Nurse Morrison. Still, when the staff nurse told us that wild horses wouldn't drag Nurse Morrison's history out of her, we, the staff, felt sympathetic and interested.

"She doesn't wear a wedding ring anyway," Trafford said one night. He had just been doing his round, and she was on night duty.

"That proves nothing, except in novels," I said sagely. "I never could make out what would bar a woman from getting, or getting rid of, a wedding ring any time it suited her."

"She's plucky," Trafford said, stretching on our sofa and staring up at the ceiling, "but I don't think much of her constitution, don't you know. She's rather neurotic, poor little soul."

"You're right," I told him. "I've noticed it myself. Sometimes, if one speaks to her suddenly, her eyes look quite tearful."

At this Trafford sat up, took his pipe out of his mouth and stared at me.

"What the devil have you to do with her eyes?" he asked sharply. "Remember, once for all, I'm senior resident here."

"Who said you weren't?" I asked. "I don't see what that has to do with it."

"I do. I'm responsible for things in my department, and I won't have any humbugging flirtations going on."

"Better talk to the matron and report me to the board," I said sulkily and took up the book that I had been reading when he came in. I didn't read, though, and Trafford still smoked and stared at the ceiling. Presently he spoke again in a way that showed he had made a fool of himself.

"Well," he said, "neurology's not in my line, and I'd like your candid opinion of her. As a psychologist, wouldn't you say that she's running a risk of overstrain? One can see that she takes things too seriously."

I wasn't inclined to give Trafford another chance of snubbing me, but when a fellow apologizes practically I think one ought to be decent. Besides, the nervous system is a thing I've worked a good deal at, and Trafford doesn't know anything about it, so I put down my book again and thought the thing over carefully.

"There's no doubt," I said at last, "but that she's inclined to be neurotic. That very fine, soft hair, of that particular shade, goes with what outsiders call a highly strung nature."

"Oh, you've noticed her hair, have you?" Trafford asked, and I said that of course any man who was interested in physiology and psychology would pay particular attention to the hair.

"These women are perfect brutes to one another," he went on. "She's too good to lose through a breakdown, and I'd like to ease her work a bit. As senior resident I'm responsible for a thing like that, but if I speak to Buz (Miss Buzzard is our matron) she may turn rusty."

"Speak to the chief tomorrow morning when he comes around; then he'll look at her."

"He does that already," Trafford said. "But she's so plucky, she brightens up when he's about."

I couldn't suggest anything more, except to keep an eye on her, and we agreed to make the poor little thing's work as light as possible.

"Has she friends near?" Trafford asked me when I said "Good night." And I was able to tell him that I thought she had, and that she always went to see them when off duty.

Well, when I thought over his "interest and responsibility as senior resident" I couldn't help laughing at Trafford, for I knew very well that Nurse Morrison wasn't interested in him, but all the same, after keeping an eye on her, as I had promised, I began to feel that he was quite right in saying that she needed to be looked after. She began to develop a set look about the mouth and a strained appearance of the eyes that I didn't like at all. She would jump if one spoke to her unexpectedly, and once, when going round at night in my slippers I brushed against her, she threw up her arm with a little cry as if expecting me to hit her.

I was much hurt at this and spoke to her, but only said vaguely that she was always expecting something to happen now, and of course I couldn't bother her.

Presently queer rumors got about the place, and one could see quite well, by the way that the other nurses put their heads together in the wards and scattered directly she went near them, that they discussed her pretty often.

She only made one friend among them all—big, bouncing, red cheeked Nurse Gore, whose laugh was a thunderclap and who was reported to take her holidays in August because of the grouse. It reminded me of the oak and the ivy and all that sort of thing to see them together.

One day Nurse Smiles, with whom I used to have little chats before Nurse Morrison came, gave me a hint.

One has to be friendly with the nurses if one wishes to be thoroughly well up in the progress of patients, but I had rather dropped Nurse Smiles because she was silly about Nurse Morrison.

That day I went out of the ward for an instrument, leaving Nurse Morrison there. When I came back, Nurse Smiles was there in her place.

"Where's nurse?" I said.

"Do you mean Mrs. Morrison?" she asks as cool as you please, and then: "Oh, what have I said? Please don't notice it!"

"I won't," I told her and went on with my business alone, but when I repeated it to Trafford that night he got quite excited and raved up and down the room.

"I knew it!" he told me. "They're all talking about it. The poor little thing is the slave to some blackguard. She slips out to see him whenever she can. Nurse Gore is the only one who knows all, but"— And with that he pushed a scrap of paper into my hand.

"Read that," he said fiercely, and I read it.

"Can't. Have arranged to meet John. He has promised not to be so rough."

I stared alternately at the paper and at Trafford.

"It's here," he explained. "You know the poor little thing is on night duty just now, and Nurse Gore's on by day. So they don't meet much, and their plan is to leave notes for one another hidden on their dressing tables."

"How on earth"— I began, but Trafford held up a warning hand and stopped me.

"As senior resident"— he said, and I shut up.

"Nurse Smiles brought me this note," he went on, "and I didn't say what I thought of her, for I'm determined to help the poor soul, and Buz mustn't hear it. That woman Smiles thought it should be known.' It was in answer to a note from Nurse Gore, saying tomorrow morning is her day off and suggesting a trip. You mark my words, that girl is fettered for life." With that he left me, to get the note smuggled back by the conscientious Nurse Smiles, and I wondered what would come next.

I had not to wait long.

The next day he came to me with another note from Nurse Gore's room.

"I have snapped the chain! John is furious. Oh, what can I do? I could kill myself. I nearly did."

We stared at one another in silence. Then Trafford spoke.

"She's in her room crying," he said. "Nurse Gore dropped the note in her own room after reading it and went to her. I've promised to meet the chief outside for an operation. Do you think she's safe? She has broken loose somehow, you see, but still!"—

"I'll see to that," I told him, and he went off.

Then I sent word that I wanted to see Nurse Morrison about one of the patients. Of course, as a psychologist, I knew that a woman of a neurotic temperament in such a frenzied condition might do anything.

She came after some delay. I asked her to sit down, and I saw at once not only that she had been crying, but also that she had a large bruise over her left temporal region.

"What is that" I asked, pointing at it, and she burst into tears.

I hold that a man may be scientific and yet have a soft heart. I own that I was moved. I rose, and going round the table knelt by her side.

"After all," I whispered, "I—we all are sorry for you. You are among friends. Why don't you trust us? What does it matter so long as the chain is broken?"

"Matter!" She dried her eyes and stared at me indignantly. "Matter! My bub-bub-bicycle's spoiled, and I shan't be able to use it for a month! John, the t-t-teacher, says so!"

Some time later, when I ask the staff what she had meant by saying that wild horses wouldn't drag Nurse Morrison's past history from her, she grinned and said, "No more they would."

"Why not?" I persisted.

"Because I don't know it," she told me.

I hate these sharp women.—Westminster Budget.

An Obstacle.

"No," he said with the air of a man who feels it his disagreeable duty to deny a request, "it won't do to allow women to vote."

"Why not?" his wife inquired. "They are quite as competent to understand political questions as men are."

"I don't deny that, but there are other more practical considerations. Whenever there is an election, there are bound to be bets made. Now, when a man bets a hat, it never costs more than $6 or $8 if he loses. But if women got their sympathies aroused, there wouldn't be anything for them to do except to precipitate a panic by wagering bonnets that in the nature of things can't cost less than $30 apiece."—Washington Star.

He Got the Post.

A young candidate for a naval surgeon was before the examining board, and the question was put to him: "What would you do if a man was brought to you during action with his arms and legs shot off? Now, sir, don't keep the board waiting. What would you do? Make haste."

"By Jove, sir," returned the young candidate, "I would pitch him overboard and go to some one else I would be of more service to!" He got the post. —Scottish Nights.

How He Helped.

The Philadelphia Record tells of a little woman and a big man who visited a dentist not long ago. "I just came along to help her keep her courage up," explained the big man fondly. She sat through a long operation, the filling of several teeth, with scarcely a quiver. When it was done, she suggested that her husband ought to have his teeth examined. He said he knew there was nothing the matter with his, but finally she had her own way. The dentist found one small cavity and said he might as well fix it at once, and the little woman agreed with him.

When the boring machine was moved out from its corner, the big man seemed to shrink; when it began to buzz he shivered perceptibly, and even before the tool touched his tooth he gave a shout. After which it took all of the little woman's powers of persuasion to keep him in the chair until the job was completed. "And that's no exceptional case," said the dentist when the couple had gone.

A Mind Healer's Fee.

Some years ago a young friend of mine went to a mind healer for a lark. There was nothing in the world the matter with him, but he pretended to be the victim of terrible headaches. The wonderful healer asked no questions as to the cause of the ailment. He did not care about that, for he had one panacea which sufficed for every ill. Said he to the young investigator: "Go home, and whenever the headache comes on sit down quietly and put your whole mind on it, thinking with all you might that you have not got a headache. Then you will not have it and will be cured."

"That's easy," said my young friend. "What is your fee?"

"Five dollars."

"Well, sir, you put your whole mind on it and think with all your might that you have that $5. Then you will have it and will be paid."—Leslie's Weekly.

DON'T DESPAIR!

An American Scientist's Great Work.

Consumption, Pneumonia, La Grippe, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis and All Lung and Bronchial Troubles Can be Positively and Permanently Cured.

Dr. Slocum's System of Treatment Has Revolutionized Old-Time Theories.

A Free Course of Treatment for All Sufferers for the Mere Asking.

SCENE IN THE SLOCUM LABORATORIES, NEW YORK CITY.

The Doctor Demonstrating to Medical Men, Scientists, Statesmen and Students the Value of the New Slocum System of Treatment for the Permanent Cure of Lung Consumption, Catarrh and All Pulmonary and Wasting Diseases.

Do you cough?
Do your lungs pain you?
Is your throat sore and inflamed?
Do you spit up phlegm?
Does your head ache?
Is your appetite bad?
Are your lungs delicate?
Are you losing flesh?
Are you pale and thin?
Do you lack stamina?

These symptoms are proof that you have in your body the seeds of the most dangerous malady that has ever devastated the earth—consumption.

Consumption, the bane of those who have been brought up in the old-fashioned beliefs that this disease was hereditary, that it was fatal, that none could recover who were once firmly clasped in its relentless grip.

But now known to be curable, made so by the world-stirring discoveries of that man whose name has been given to this new system of treatment.

Now known to be preventable and curable by following and practising his hygienic teachings.

The new system of treatment will cure you of consumption and of all diseases which can be traced back to weak lungs as a foundation.

It is not a drug system, but a system of germ destruction and body building.

Not guesswork, but science.

Not a step backward, but a stride out of the old ruts.

Made possible only by Pasteur's, Virchow's, Metchnikoff's and Slocum's latest discoveries in bacteriology, hygiene and therapeutics.

In plain English, a system of modern scientific disease curing.

The System consists of Four Preparations which act simultaneously and supplement each other's curative action.

You are invited to test what this system will do for you, if you are sick, by writing for a free treatment to the Slocum Laboratories, New York City.

WRITE TO THE DOCTOR.

Send your name and full express and postoffice address to the Slocum Laboratories, 98 Pine street, New York, and mention this paper, and the Four Free Preparations of medicine will be forwarded you.

The system is a positive cure for consumption, that most insidious disease, and for all lung troubles and disorders complicated by loss of flesh, Coughs, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, etc.

Thin, pale, weak people become fat and hearty by its use.

The test is to try it.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, APRIL 9, 1899.

NEW YORK'S FATAL FIRE.

Believed to Have Been Caused by an Incendiary—Threatening Letters Sent to a Servant.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Despite reticence on the part of the police, facts became public to-day which make it appear that the fire which yesterday destroyed thirteen persons was of incendiary origin. It transpired that a few hours before the flames were seen a policeman was sent for from the Andrews house and was mysteriously dismissed by a servant, who said he was not wanted. Letters threatening the lives of the Andrews family and the children of Mrs. St. John were found. It is believed that the motive for incendiarism was revenge, and that the affair arose out of a quarrel between the servants. Foley, the butler in the Andrews family, is under surveillance, and the police are hard at work investigating the clues, which chiefly rest upon the anonymous letters. Mary Flannagan, the dead maid servant, seems to have been a central figure in this alleged plot and the chief object of the supposed perpetrator's hate.

The police to day gave out three scurrilous, threatening anonymous letters which had been sent to members of the Andrews household. One was addressed to the servant, Mary Flannagan. The letters made charges against Mary Flannagan and the butler. In a letter addressed to Mrs. St John, the writer said: "I hope you and Mrs. Andrews don't think for one moment that I am reconciled or pacified with Mary Flannagan, for indeed I am not, and what is further, I will not be until I get my revenge. I feel that I have given warning enough, and I am going to fix her for life, and because you and Mrs. Andrews did not give heed to warning I am going to fix you too. I am going to make some one throw something in your nurses and children's faces that will disfigure them and eat all the flesh off the bone. This I will do for spite, because you did not let Mary go as I told you to do. You had just as well let her go first as last. You will have no girl alive when I get through with her."

MAGNIFICENT VASES.

Presented to the U. S. Government and People by the President of the Republic of France.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—A notable ceremony occurred at the Blue Room of the Executive Mansion at 11 o'clock to-day, when the French Ambassador, M. Cambon, presented to the government and the American people, as represented through President McKinley, two magnificent Sevres vases, from the French national pottery at Sevres. The gift was from the late President of the French Republic, Felix Faure, and commemorated the opening of the new Franco-American cable on August 17th last, when President McKinley and President Faure exchanged the first message over the new line, between the White House and the Palace of the Elysee. The vases and pedestals stand six or eight feet high and are of a deep blue, characteristic of the finest Sevres ware, as well as in happy accord with the prevailing colors of the Blue Room.

The presentation was made the occasion for a happy exchange of international greetings, M. Cambon making an address and the President responding. The vases have already been placed in position, one on either side of the large window looking toward the Potomac. They far exceed in elegance anything in the way of porcelain hitherto brought to the White House.

The vases will now remain a permanent possession of the White House, along with several other notable decorations given by foreign governments. If they had been given personally to President McKinley it would have required an act of Congress for their acceptance, but as a gift to the American government and people, no special act is required.

SPANISH-AMERICAN TREATY.

Exchange of Ratifications This Week in Washington—Peace Proclamation Will Follow.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The exchange of ratifications of the treaty of peace between Spain and the United States, signed at Paris, will probably take place in this city next week, and that ceremony will be followed by a proclamation by President McKinley, officially announcing the close of the war with Spain and the resumption of friendly relations, commercial and otherwise, between the two countries.

The Spanish copy of the treaty, which was signed by the Queen-Regent March 17th, is expected to reach here Monday, and the arrangement of the formalities attending the exchange of ratifications will be promptly perfected. Secretary Hay has been officially advised of the forwarding of the Spanish treaty to the French ambassador at Washington.

The exchange of ratifications will be followed promptly by the payment of $20,000,000 to the Spanish government on account of the cession of the Philippine islands to the United States.

ON HATTERAS BEACH.

Schooner J. C. McNaughton From Newbern—Crew Saved.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CAPE HENRY, VA., April 8.—The schooner J. C. McNaughton from New Berne, N. C., for Atlantic City with lumber, stranded at 2 o'clock this morning on Hatteras beach. The crew of five were saved by Captain Burrows, of Durant's Life Saving station by means of the breeches buoy. The vessel lies high up on the beach and will probably be a total loss. The cargo of lumber will probably be saved. The crew is being cared for at Durant's Life Saving station.

LATEST SAMOAN DEVELOPMENTS.

Germany Protests Against Action of American and British Representatives.

CLEAR VIOLATION OF TREATY

Considers New Government Illegal—The Situation at Apia—Collisions Occur Daily and the Bombardment Continues Intermittently.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

BERLIN, April 8.—Both Mr. White and the British ambassador, Sir Frank Lascelles, conferred with Baron von Buelow to-day with reference to the latest Samoan developments. The German government earnestly urges the speedy appointment and dispatch of the commission, so as to prevent further difficulties.

A foreign official, empowered to speak for the government, tells the correspondent of the Associated Press that the action of the Americans and British is a clear violation of the Samoa Act; that Germany intends to adhere to this view; that she considers the new government of Samoa illegal, and that she has so instructed her ambassadors at Washington and London.

Ambassador White.

The United States Embassy authoritatively denies that Ambassador White used any such expression, regarding the influence of the British on the American press as stated by the Munich Allgemeine Zeitung in an alleged interview with Mr. White. It is added that the whole story that the ambassador made such charges against Great Britain, or even alluding to Great Britain, is pure invention.

The recent audience of the United States Ambassador, Mr. Andrew P. White, with Emperor Williams, lasted ninety minutes. They discussed Samoa and the peace conference and his majesty asked the ambassador to convey his thanks to President McKinley for his willingness to consider the proposal for a joint commission and the conciliatory assurances received from Washington.

Mr. White again conferred to-day with the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Baron von Buelow, on Samoa. A number of papers attack Von Buelow's policy. The Deutsche Zeitung says: "If the government does not draw a lesson from the occurrence of the past three months we may as well cease to call ourselves a great power."

Bombardment Continues.

An official telegram from the German consul at Apia, Samoa, dated March 24th, says: "Minor collisions are daily occurring and that the bombardment continues intermittently." The dispatch adds: "Tanus, yesterday, was appointed King at Mulinu by the other consuls and commanders. Business is at a standstill. All the shops have been closed since March 15th."

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The Secretary of the Navy has received the following:

"San Francisco, April 8.—Malietoa Tanus installed as king on the 23rd, with appropriate ceremonies. Report by mail. No fighting since the 21st. (Signed) "KAUTZ."

The Joint High Commission.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The British government has selected Mr. C. N. E. Eliot, C. B., as the British member of the joint high commission for the settlement of the Samoan question. The British ambassador, Sir Julian Pauncefote, called at the State Department to-day and advised Secretary Hay of Mr. Eliot's selection.

The appointment gave much satisfaction in government and diplomatic circles, as Mr. Eliot is a member of the embassy staff, and during his brief service here has made many friends. It also gave added assurance that the real differences over the Samoan trouble are well nigh finished, now that the governments have turned their attention to the selection of commissioners for its adjusment.

The Feeling in Berlin.

BERLIN, April 8.—The Samoan question continues to hold the attention of the public, the newspapers being full of dispatches and comment on the subject. The Emperor has devoted much time to the matter and has conferred several times on the subject with the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Baron von Buelow.

It is interesting to note that German distrust and dissatisfaction at the latest events are almost entirely aimed at Great Britain, whose attitude is described, even in official circles, as being dictated by duplicity and unfriendliness. The press faithfully portrays this feeling. The delay of Great Britain in accepting the proposals for a settlement of the difficulty, which the United States ambassador, Andrew J. White, attributed mainly to the absence of the Marquis of Salisbury from London, is generally interpreted in Germany as showing distinctly unfriendly motives upon the part of Great Britain.

The correspondent of the Associated Press had an interview on the subject with a high foreign office official, who said:

"It has been a source of regret and astonishment that Great Britain, unlike the United States, has not expressed regret at the latest turn of affairs in Samoa, while the acceptance of our peaceful settlement has so far been coupled with unacceptable conditions, containing the seeds of new troubles and manifestly unfair. We could not accept conditions enabling the American and British commissioners at any time to override German rights, thus perpetuating the unpleasant state of affairs in the islands."

The press comment is in the same key, but, naturally, it is more outspoken. In a lengthy article the Kreuz Zeitung charges Great Britain with mala fides in the whole matter, alleging that she is "trying for her own selfish purposes to entangle the United States into hostility with all the continental Powers and at the same time drag her into a policy of expansion."

The Boersen Courier says the reason of Great Britain's delay in assenting to Germany's proposal was founded on her desire to continue, with the aid of the United States, her policy of spiting Germany, and claims to find proof of this attitude in the London press, which it accuses of resuming its old tactics of "slandering Germany and breeding trouble between Germany and the United States."

The Tageblatt takes Great Britain to task for not expressing regret at the unexpected policy of repression in Samoa, and regards her attitude toward Germany as insincere.

The Cologne Volks Zeitung says: "Great Britain's behavior in this matter is symptomatic, and opens an unfavorable vista for other pending negotiations."

Dr. A. W. Chapman, an old citizen of Apalachicola, Fla., and a world renowned botanist, died suddenly yesterday. He was ninety years old.

EMBALMED BEEF INQUIRY.

Testimony Before the Investigating Commission—The Powell Preservative Process.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—John Rusch, of Englewood, N. J., cook for the Second New Jersey regiment, while at Jacksonville, opened the testimony in the army beef inquiry to day. He declared that it was common talk among the soldiers that all the meat in the South was embalmed. The story became prevalent, and the men refused to eat the meat, which, he testified, was "rotten, often slimy in appearance, and there were frequent complaints that it made the men sick." After frying it it tasted like straw, and had a peculiar smell as if decayed.

Mr. Alexander B. Powell, of New York, the proprietor of the Powell beef preservative process, followed Rusch on the stand. He explained at some length that he was the sole owner of the Powell process for preserving fresh meats without the use of ice; that the formula was a secret, and that it was not patented because so eminently simple. Mr. Powell declared emphatically that neither boraic or salycalic acid was used in the process; nor, he added, "is there any injection of immersion in chemicals. The process is applied by fumigation."

The reading of the reports of officers was then proceeded with by Maj. Lee. They were of the same tenor as those read yesterday.

Colonel Davis announced at the beginning of the afternoon session that the court had decided to adhere to its former decision to summon only such of the additional witnesses suggested by General Miles as could give testimony upon points not already covered by the inquiry.

After the reading of additional reports, the board adjourned until Monday.

MOVEMENT FROM MANILA.

Expedition of 1,500 Men Sent to Capture Santa Cruz and Sweep the Country.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

MANILA, April 9.—At nightfall last night Generals Lawton and King launched an expedition of three gunboats with 1,500 picked men in canoes in tow of the gunboats. The object of the expedition is to cross the lake, capture Santa Cruz and sweep the country to the south.

The expedition, which embarked at San Pedro Macati, consists of eight companies of the Fourteenth infantry, three companies of the Fourth cavalry, four of the North Dakota volunteers, four of the Idaho volunteers, two mountain guns and two hundred sharpshooters of the Fourteenth infantry.

At the mouth of the Pasig river the men will be transferred to the three gunboats Laguna de Bay, Cesto and Napinda.

Santa Cruz, the objective point of the expedition, is at the extreme end of the lake.

JERSEY COURT DECISION.

Under Which an Imprisoned Debtor May Remain in Jail for Life.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, April 8.—In future any man who is imprisoned in New Jersey for debt may remain in jail for life unless some special law is passed by Congress to release him.

Judge Blair, of the Hudson County Court of Sessions, has so ruled in a decision rendered in the case of Joseph Schnitzer, a furniture dealer of Jersey City, who sought to take advantage of the insolvent debtor act of New Jersey. Judge Blair says that the United States bankruptcy act supercedes the New Jersey insolvency act and that forfeited bonds entail imprisonment.

AFFAIRS IN CUBA AND PORTO RICO.

Gen. Gomez to be Reinstated as Commander of the Cuban Army.

PREPARATIONS TO DISBAND.

The Payment of Cuban Troops—Annexation Feeling in Porto Rico Strong and Unanimous — Objections to Military Occupation.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

HAVANA, April 8.—The Generals have not yet officially notified Gen. Maximo Gomez of his reinstatement in the command of the Cuban army. Bartolome Maso and Mayia Rodriguez have been named as members of the executive advisory board. The wrangling over the naming of the third member continues.

Some of the Cuban generals who are not actually in command of forces met informally at the Hotel Inglaterra last night and protested against the action of the other Cuban generals, declaring that they, as generals, have as much right to assist in the deliberations and to be heard as those in actual command of forces. The other generals insist that only commanders of forces have a right to take action. There is no doubt Gomez will eventually be reinstated.

Dr. Brunner, the chief quarantine officer of Havana, has begun to use the plant established for the disinfection of outgoing ships bound to Southern ports of the United States. This is the first use of disinfection at the port of departure. The health authorities of Louisiana and Alabama will admit such ships. Those of Florida and Georgia will not do so.

Payment of Cuban Soldiers.

General Maximo Gomez had a talk with Governor General Brooke to-day, in the course of which he said that General Mayia Rodriguez and General Bartolome Maso, former president of the Cuban republic, would act as a committee of the army with him to aid General Brooke in the distribution of the $3,000,000 advanced by the United States for the payment of the Cuban troops. The governor general replied that he would be pleased to have Generals Rodriguez and Maso take part, as they were representatives of the Cubans.

General Gomez will be formally notified by the Cuban generals to morrow at Quinta de Molinas, his residence, of his reinstatement as commander-in-chief of the Cuban army. The commanders of the forces last night visited General Gomez and unofficially informed him of the contemplated action. Another meeting was held this morning, but several of the commanders had returned to the country during the night and consequently were not present. The whole matter has assumed a farcical aspect. The scoffers express doubt that any concerted action will be taken, but tomorrow will probably determine the matter.

Annexation Feeing in Porto Rico.

Senor Luis Munoz Rivera, former secretary of state in the Porto Rican cabinet, sailed for New York to-day on the steamer Seneca. Senor Rivera declares that the annexation feeling in Porto Rico is strong and unanimous and that the only thing that could alter it is the continuance of the American military occupation, which he considers incompatible with the progress of the island.

The Ninth Illinois regiment and a battalion of the Fourth Illinois are the only volunteer regiments left at Camp Columbia. The last six companies of the Sixty-ninth Iowa left to-day by the steamer Havana for Savannah. They will be quarantined at Pulaski. The Ninth Illinois will leave by the United States transport Logan for Tampa, as soon as the Logan returns from conveying the Third Nebraska regiment to the Dry Tortugas. The last battalion of the Fourth Illinois will go on the next trip of the steamer Yarmouth.

THE POPE OF ROME.

Few Deny That the Life of the Pontiff is Slowly Ebbing Aaway.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, April 9.—The Rome correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "While the Pope's health has improved, few deny that his life is slowly ebbing away. Cardinal Parocni, bishop of Porto and Santa Rufina, and Vicar General of his Holiness, in an interview, says that in spite of the advice of his physicians the Pope, if his strength will permit, will receive the Sacred College on Tuesday to receive the congratulations of that body upon the anniversary of his coronation. He even intends to attend the service in St. Peter's on Friday."

It is announced that Great Britain will formally occupy her new territory of Kow Loon, adjoining Hong Kong, China, on April 17th.

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. GOLD AND COPPER ORE.

Discoveries Near Salisbury, N. C., Exciting Intense Interest.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ATLANTA, GA., April 8.—A special from Charlotte, N. C., says: "The discoveries of copper ore near Salisbury, N. C., at the Union Gold mines, are exciting intense interest all over the South and claims are made that the supply will equal the famous Calumet and Hecla and Anaconda mines. According to J. J. Newman, the mining engineer, an immense vein of gold and copper bearing ore runs for half a mile from thirty to one hundred feet back on the surface."

SPANISH TREASURE.

A Valuable Find Reported in Media County, Texas.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

GALVESTON, TEX., April 8.—A special to the News from San Antonio says: News has been received from Devine, in Media county, that a Spanish treasure of over 10,000 doubloons, jewelry and documents has been unearthed there. The name of the finder is not given, but the story is vouched for by reliable people.

A Surgical Genius.

In one of the back counties of south Texas is a negro doctor who enjoys a more or less extensive practice among the colored population, which composes a majority of the citizenship. A white physician accosted him on the road the other day, saying, "Well, Dr. Sam, where have you been?"

"Been to see Bill Johnsing, sah. He was wrastlin wid Mose Jones and bus' a blood vessel."

"Indeed; that's serious! What did you prescribe?"

"Ah! I done fix him all right wid alum and gum arabic—alum to draw dee pahts togeddah and de gum to stick 'em."

It may be interesting to add that the victim recovered.—New York Tribune.

Cheating a Hog.

A Denver man has discovered a plan to get a hog back into a pen through the aperture through which it passed out. His recipe in substance is: Get the nose at the hole in the pen; then pass around behind the hog carefully, get hold of its tail and pull back as hard as you can. The animal will think you want to prevent it from going in and will make a leap to its old place.—Denver Times.
